Our Process

SuperStaff follows the best practices in rendering e-Commerce services.

1. Identify needs

Before we gather around the drawing board, we schedule an initial meeting to learn about the products and services you wanted to sell. We will discuss together the type of support and e-Commerce platform that you will require.

2. Establish goals

To maximize the budget and deliver according to your timelines, we will lay out only quantifiable goals and realistic action plans. Understanding what you want to accomplish allows us to prioritize tasks accordingly.

3. Create scope of work

Afterward, we proceed with drafting the scope of work tailored according to the service that you require. We create different project scopes for time-bound services (such as website design and development) and recurring services (such as customer service).

4. Select from talent pool

The next step is to build a team that will manage your online store. We have access to world-class professionals across different fields, from web developers and content writers to accountants and customer service agents.

5. Train and integrate

To boost performance and ensure consistency in all aspects of operation, we oversee the team's training and onboarding. We guarantee that they know the latest trends in e-Commerce and online marketing.

6. Manage office operations

Once your e-Commerce platform is operational, we assume maintenance and management of your online store. Trust us to provide your clients with a consistent level of support from initial inquiry, inventory, and after-sales.
